User Experience & Usability Testing

Research focusing on understanding user behaviors, needs, and motivations through observing them interact with a website.

~~Excuses~~

“I was an attendee for your website seminar where you gave constructive criticism on various PA destination websites. I wanted you to know that since then, I took your comments regarding our website to heart and we completely re-designed our site. I just wanted to share our new site with you. We are still working out some kinks because it just launched a few days ago. I got a lot out of your seminar; the tough love approach worked for us. Thank you.”

Running in Tallahassee

by: Elizabeth "Ely" Rosario

No matter your age, there is something truly inspiring about running alongside a train - even at a distance - or watching it go under you as you cross the Lafayette Heritage Pedestrian Bridge. During those moments, in that second in time, you feel alive, with the world at your feet.

Welcome to Tallahassee, a city with one of the oldest marathons in the state, with an active and vibrant running community fortunate enough to be able to run all year round. With an extensive network of beautiful, scenic trails, its no accident we've earned the nickname Trailahassee.

My love affair with our trails started at Forest Meadows where I found access to the trails around Lake Overstreet. There I learned how to dodge the roots and never fall on my face, gained speed while running alongside Lake Overstreet and learned humility as my limits were always tested on that one, long, and gradual hill towards the end of the trail. While that trail taught me how to run and knows many of my secrets, it was at the J. R. Alford Greenway where I truly fell in love with trail running; where I was able to get lost in my own thoughts and just allow the gravel and dirt path in front of me to take me into a new and incredible journey. The same trail brought a different story and a new beginning each day.

If you are visiting Tallahassee make time to explore our trails and make sure you take your phone/camera with you. You will regret not having that camera when you spot the gators swimming in the lake, or the deer staring blankly at you as you pass them by, or better yet the reflection of the sun on the water that gives you a mirror image all between the canopy trees. You can't miss the magic of a sunrise on the Lafayette Heritage Trail Park where the same trail can give you a million different views all in one morning.

Let me take you into a new journey and come Explore Tallahassee with me!

6 Things to Know Before Calling Yourself a Foodie - Honest Cooking

honestcooking.com/6-things-to-know-before-calling-yourself-a-foodie/ ▼

May 25, 2012 - Do you have what it takes to call yourself a foodie? Reid Nichols with a check list guest post. Read the article on Honest Cooking.

- A foodie can recommend a local restaurant and give several options on its menu. You are not a foodie if you like a restaurant but have only ever ordered one thing on the menu.
- A foodie can tell you about a restaurant's use of local ingredients, naturally raised animals and sustainability efforts.
- A foodie can tell you what items are made fresh in-house and which ingredients are stored or shipped in the freezer. Are the chips, salsa and guacamole made daily?!?!?
- A foodie doesn't need the waiter to explain how an item is cooked sous-vide. A foodie should be well versed in cooking styles and techniques.
- A foodie has a “best of” list longer than 5 options.
- Although not always required, it helps if a foodie is able to identify the flavor chords of a meal and be able to recommend a wine.

Sorry, I'm so obsessed with food.

Tonopah has some of the darkest skies in the country and is rated the #1 stargazing destination in America by USA Today. And the darker it gets, the more you can see. A brilliant 7,000 stars on clean, moonless nights, to be precise. Not to mention the magical, swirling Milky Way. You can even see stars as faint as magnitude +7.0, which is out of the question in most places.

The park, encompasses portions of four of the major mining companies and covers over 100 acres. It preserves this rich history and brings it to life with equipment, exhibits, and a self-guided walking tour. The tour wanders throughout the property. Most buildings on the property are open for our visitors to enjoy and feel how it was to be working in a turn of the century mining environment.
